I. Reconstruct the informal letter by putting the sentences in a logical order. (10 points)

Dear Esther,

- I started to run after him but it was useless – you know how unfit I am!
- I was walking down the main street on my way to the beach when I heard everyone shouting behind me.
- How about you Esther? Did anything exciting happen on your holiday? Write and tell me about it.
- You can imagine how relieved I fell. And I was so grateful to the driver – thanks to him my holiday wasn't ruined.
- How are you? Did you get my postcard from Italy?
- Before I knew what was happening, he had snatched my bag and was riding off into the distance.
- We chased after the thief, and as soon as he realized he was being followed, he dropped the bag and disappeared.
- You'll never guess what happened to me after I'd posted it to you!
- I looked round and there on the pavement coming towards me was a young man on a motor scooter.
- Anyway, at that moment a car pulled over beside me and the driver, who had seen the incident, told me to get in.

Lots of love
Angela
