_____

Mountain Rescue!

John Martin works for the rescue service in the Yosemite National Park.

Q: John, is this your only job?
A: No, I'm an engineer, but in my free time I'm a volunteer for the rescue service.

Q: What are the most common problems?
A: A very common problem is exhaustion. If someone in your group looks tired, you should all rest. You should also carry high-energy food, like chocolate.

Q: And what should I do if someone has a broken leg or arm? Should I move him or her?
A: No, you shouldn't move him or her. You should call for help.

Q: Who should I contact?
A: You should call 911 to speak to the police. While you wait, you should keep the person warm.

Q: What about for minor things like insect bites?
A: Use cold water or a special cream, but if the person has a temperature you should go to the hospital.
