CLARA'S DREAM

Clara is an eighteen-year-old student, and she has a big dream: she wants to be a successful surgeon in the future. Because of this, she studies very hard every day by herself. She usually wakes up at 6:30 a.m., makes herself a cup of strong coffee, and reviews her biology and chemistry notes. She never misses her science classes, and she always listens to her teachers and asks them a lot of questions.

Right now, Clara is sitting at her desk in her bedroom. She isn't watching TV or chatting with her friends. She is preparing for a very important medical exam. She is reading a thick anatomy book and taking colorful notes in it. Her cat, Leo, is also in the room. It is cleaning itself next to her computer.

Last Thursday was a very exciting day for Clara. She visited a big hospital for a school project. She walked around the hospital by herself and observed the doctors. While she was walking through the emergency room, she saw a lot of busy doctors and nurses. Suddenly, she heard a loud noise. While a young male nurse was carrying some heavy boxes of medicines, he dropped them on the floor. He was trying to carry them all by himself! Clara immediately ran to help him. They collected all the boxes together. The nurse smiled, introduced himself, and thanked her. Clara felt very proud of herself because she realized that she truly belongs in a hospital environment.
