

I think that there is nothing better than a big thank-you party! Look at this — I have a big apple cake, three thousand candles, and that big bag of candy! They are all for my best friend. I am so happy that I could sing and dance! But then I thought: what if the weather is bad? That would make me sad and angry. These things matter when you plan a party! If the thunder is there, I will think of something else. There is always another way that we can have fun!
