Part 3: Reading Comprehension (Items 21–35)

A Blend of Tradition and Modernity

Chiang Mai is a city where ancient northern Thai culture and modern city life coexist seamlessly. Visitors can explore hundred-year-old temples, historical city walls, bustling night markets, and modern shopping complexes all within the same district.

The Old City center is particularly popular among travelers interested in Lanna history. Major landmarks, such as Wat Chedi Luang and Wat Phra Singh, are located within walking distance of each other. However, short distances do not always mean fast travel, as narrow streets can become heavily congested, especially during peak hours.

Therefore, travelers should plan their daily itineraries carefully. They need to consider not only the physical distance between sites, but also travel conditions, time spent at each landmark, and necessary rest periods.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

21. What is the main idea of the passage?

1) Chiang Mai is famous primarily for its night markets.
2) Tourists should strictly avoid traveling during peak hours.
3) Chiang Mai offers a mix of historical heritage and modern living.
4) Wat Chedi Luang is the most visited landmark in Northern Thailand.

22. Why is the Old City popular among visitors?

1) It features numerous historic places and cultural landmarks.
2) It has fewer tourists compared to other areas.
3) It offers the fastest transportation network in the region.
4) It contains the largest modern shopping complexes.

23. What challenge might tourists encounter even when attractions are near each other?

1) Attractions often have conflicting opening hours.
2) Heavy traffic and narrow streets can prolong travel time.
3) Visitors are not permitted to walk between landmarks.
4) Historical sites are located outside the main city limits.

24. What does "They" in the final paragraph refer to?

1) Transportation systems
2) Historical landmarks
3) Night markets
4) Travelers

25. What should tourists take into account when planning a travel itinerary?

1) The total number of gifts to purchase
2) Only places located right next to the hotel
3) Travel duration, distances, and time spent at each location
4) Avoiding all scheduled rest breaks
