A Special Classroom

Barrington Irving is a pilot. He thinks education is important. He wants students to see how science, technology, art, and math work together. He started Experience Aviation so students can do interesting projects.

In one project, more than 50 students in Atlanta build a car from 1965— a Ford Daytona Coupe. They use about 1,000 car pieces. It takes 18 weeks to finish the car. The project is exciting for students. They think building a fast, beautiful car is awesome. Many students think they want to work in technology and science in the future.
