PRONUNCIATION

- A ▶07-03 Listen. Notice the blended pronunciations of want to and going to. Then listen and repeat.
- going to: I'm going to Mexico City.
/gəʊnə/: What are you going to do?
/wʌnə/: I want to see the pyramids.

Blending: want to ("wanna") and going to ("gonna")

We often blend want to together as "wanna" /wʌnə/. We often blend going to together as "gonna" /gəʊnə/ when going to comes before a verb: I'm going to leave soon. We do not blend going to together before a noun: I'm going to Mexico City., but to is usually unstressed /tə/.

- B ▶07-04 Listen. Complete the sentences. Then listen and repeat.

- _____ Japan in the summer.
- _____ take cooking classes.
- _____ learn to make sushi.
- My friend and _____ go hiking.
- We're talking about _____ Canada.
- I think _____ go in August.

PRONUNCIATION

- A ▶07-16 Listen. Notice the way /t/ is dropped before a consonant and linked to a vowel. Then listen and repeat.
- the smallest~~y~~country the largest~~y~~island
the highest~~y~~mountain the deepest~~y~~ocean

Dropping the /t/ and linking in superlatives

We often drop the sound /t/ in words that end in -st when the next word begins with a consonant sound: the smallest~~y~~country. We do this to make a long group of consonant sounds easier to say. When the next word begins with a vowel sound, we pronounce the /t/ and link it to the following vowel: the largest~~y~~island.

- B ▶07-17 Draw a line (/) through t in the superlative if we can drop the sound /t/. Draw a linking line to show where we link t to the next word. Listen and check your answers.
- What's the tallest building?
 - What's the hottest place?
 - What's the most expensive city?
 - Which city has the best food?
 - Which city has the busiest airport?
 - What's the most interesting park?
 - What's the most beautiful city?
 - What's the best time of year to visit?
