

Grammar Quest: Active & Passive Voice

Welcome, Grammar Explorer! Today, you are going on a quest to master the two ways we tell stories in English: Active Voice and Passive Voice. By the end of this journey, you will know exactly how to change sentences around like a wizard!

Lesson & Explanations

Before we start our exercises, let's learn the secret formulas.

What is Active Voice?

In the Active Voice, the person or thing doing the action comes first. They are actively doing the work!

- The Formula: [Who did it] $\rightarrow$ [Action Verb] $\rightarrow$ [What received the action]
- Example: The superhero saved the city.
(The superhero is active! They are doing the saving.)

What is Passive Voice?

In the Passive Voice, we flip the sentence around. The thing that received the action comes first, and the person who actually did it is placed at the end after the magic word "by".

- The Formula: [What received the action] $\rightarrow$ [Form of "to be" + Action Verb] $\rightarrow$ by $\rightarrow$ [Who did it]
- Example: The city was saved by the superhero.
(The city is just sitting there being passive while the superhero does the work!)

More Examples to Look At:

- Active: Leo ate the giant pizza slice.
- Passive: The giant pizza slice was eaten by Leo.
- Active: The sneaky cat caught the mouse.
- Passive: The mouse was caught by the sneaky cat.

Activity 1: The Verb Level-Up (V1 to V2 to V3)

To play the Passive Voice game, your verbs need to level up! In Passive Voice, we always use the V3 form (also called the Past Participle) paired with helper verbs like is, am, are, was, or were.

Let's look at how everyday verbs change:

1. V1 (Present / Base Form): The action happening right now (e.g., eat, write).
2. V2 (Simple Past): Used for standard Active Voice past sentences (e.g., ate, wrote).
3. V3 (Past Participle): The ultimate form needed for Passive Voice (e.g., eaten, written).

Exercise 1: The Level-Up Chart (Difficulty: Easy)

Help the verbs reach their maximum V3 power level! Fill in the missing boxes.

2. choose	_____	chosen
3. _____	threw	thrown
4. bake	baked	_____
5. hide	hid	_____
6. find	_____	found

Exercise 2: Detective Mode (Difficulty: Medium)

Look closely at each sentence. Is the subject at the beginning doing the action (Active), or is the object at the beginning receiving the action (Passive)? Write Active or Passive next to each one.

1. The ancient treasure map was found by Maya. $\rightarrow$ _____

Exercise 3: The Great Sentence Flip (Difficulty: Hard)

Now it's time to transform Active sentences into Passive sentences. Remember the secret formula: Bring the object to the front, add was or were, level up the verb to V3, and add by!
