

Historical Discoveries in Mexico

Reading Comprehension Quiz

Read the text and answer the questions.

Mexico has a rich history, and many amazing discoveries have been made in different parts of the country. One of the most famous is the ancient city of Teotihuacan. It was built more than 1,900 years ago, and it is now one of the largest archaeological sites in the world. The city was built by a powerful ruler, and it is believed that it was a center for trade, religion and culture.

In 1971, archaeologists discovered a tomb in a pyramid. Inside, they found a treasure of beautiful objects, such as pottery, jewelry and a statue. The tomb also contained the remains of a young ruler, possibly a prince. The discovery was important because it gave new information about the life and customs of the ancient people who lived there.

Another important find was the "Lady of Tulas", a mummy that was discovered in 2004 in the state of Hidalgo. She was probably a noble woman, and her body was well preserved. The mummy had a tattoo, and many artifacts were found with her, including pottery and tools. These finds help us know more about their culture, their family and their daily life.

Today, archaeologists continue to explore and study many sites in Mexico. They use science and technology to find new clues about the past. Thanks to their work, our ancient history is no longer a mystery – it is a treasure that is shared with the world.
