Amelia's Winter Night

Amelia's journey to her grandparents' house was long. They lived high in the mountains. Their small house was made of wood and gray stone. It looked like a house from a fairytale. Her grandparents were sitting by the fire in the living room. Amelia could smell apple pies baking in the oven and hear her grandfather quietly playing the guitar. Amelia looked out of the window. She saw thousands of stars shining brightly and the moon hung low in the sky. Snow was everywhere and a cold wind was blowing through the trees. It looked beautiful, but she felt happy to be warm inside the house.
