

The Mischievous School Day

Yesterday morning, I is late for school because my alarm clock was broken.

My best friends, Leo and Maya, is waiting for me near the front gate.

Leo said, "Hurry up! We is going to miss the start of assembly!"

Inside the classroom, our teacher, Mr. Davies, are writing today's lesson on the whiteboard.

I sat down quietly and said, "I is ready to start working now, Mr. Davies."

Out the window, three noisy birds is singing in the tall oak tree.

Suddenly, my desk partner shouted, "Look! You is sitting on my favourite green pencil!"

Everyone in the room turned around because they is easily distracted today.

Mr. Davies laughed and said, "We am a very noisy class this morning!"

Finally, the lunch bell rang, and I are the first student in line for the playground.
