Dream Travel

By Ben Frost

Different people enjoy different kinds of holidays. I love international food, but I don't travel abroad to eat it. I usually have my holidays in my home country. The main reason why I stay here is that I hate air travel. When I do go on holiday, I love going on guided tours because I like finding out about the history of a city. I don't usually buy anything from gift shops, though, because I like to travel light, but I always take lots of pictures to remember my trip.

My friend Ajay doesn't like wandering around cities and sightseeing. He prefers being active outdoors. He would really like to do something that is difficult and that tests his ability, such as trekking in the mountains. He would also love to go on safari in Africa. He would definitely have his camera with him! He would enjoy going with a group of people so he could share the experience.

My friend Yasemin likes independent travel because she doesn't want anybody else telling her what to do. A group tour would be the worst experience for her. She enjoys seeing cathedrals and palaces, but she also likes walking around cities on her own and discovering fascinating places that not many other people go to. She thinks it would be great to visit some of the famous cities that she's seen in films and would love to go on a road trip across the USA. She'd start in New York, then she'd rent a car and head West towards California.
