Why Teens Love Podcasts

Entertainment for teenagers has changed a lot lately. In the past, young people spent many hours watching TV. Today, more teens are listening to podcasts instead. Podcasts are popular because they offer (21) _____ and honest feelings. Unlike TV shows that follow a script, podcasts feel like a (22) _____ conversation between friends.

Social media can be quite stressful. Podcasts are a slow (23) _____ that is easier on the brain. Teens can listen to (24) _____ topics like mental health, hobbies, or new technology. They can listen while they are traveling to school, exercising, or just (25) _____. It is a good way to take a break from looking at screens all day.

Podcasting has also encouraged teenagers to create their own shows. It is not (26) _____ to start. Anyone with a unique perspective can (27) _____ their voice with the world. This means we are hearing many different stories from young people. Teens are now talking about important issues like climate change and finding a job. It helps them show who they are and (28) _____ as people.

In Malaysia, "lepak" style podcasts are very trendy. These shows feel like sitting at a mamak stall. They mix exciting facts with local (29) _____. By listening, teens learn how to think carefully about the world. They also pick up new words that describe how society works. This makes it easy for young people to (30) _____ big ideas while having fun.

In the end, podcasting is more than just a hobby. It is a place where young people can find their identity and feel heard in a busy world.
