A NEW WAY TO SCHOOL

Maya used to travel to school by car with her father. The journey was short, but the roads near her school were often crowded. Last month, the school started a 'Walk Together' programme. Pupils who live nearby walk to school in small groups with an adult.

Maya joined the group near her neighbourhood park. At first, she worried that walking would make her tired. After a few days, she began to enjoy it. She talks to her friends and notices birds, gardens and new shops. Maya also feels more energetic in the morning. Her father is pleased because he no longer has to wait in traffic.

PART 4: Questions 15-20 (6 marks)

Read the texts about three children. For questions 15-20, write the correct person (Aisha, Daniel or Wei Jian).

Aisha

During the school holidays, I joined a three-day photography workshop at the community centre. We learnt how to take clear photographs and choose interesting subjects. On the second day, we walked around town and photographed old buildings and colourful street art. I enjoyed learning about different camera settings too. Photography is now my favourite hobby, and I am saving money to buy a better camera.

Daniel

I spent five days at my uncle's farm during the school holidays. Every morning, I helped him feed the chickens and collect eggs. He also showed me how to grow vegetables without using harmful chemicals. Working on the farm was tiring, especially in the hot afternoon sun, but I really enjoyed being outdoors. I hope to visit my uncle again and learn how to grow fruit trees next time.

Wei Jian

My family travelled to Penang by train during the school holidays. We visited several historical buildings, walked around the old streets and tried different local dishes. I took photographs too, but I preferred writing about our experiences in my travel journal. My favourite part was the train journey because I could watch the scenery change along the way. I hope we can travel by train again soon.
