

How and why use feedback strategies in conversations?

Based on activities so far, read the rules on feedback use and choose the correct answer complete them.

1. Feedback is used to show your partner you want to interrupt them so you can take their turn/ to invite more conversation and show you are engaged?
2. Feedback should be/ shouldn't be a full turn. Naturally, the partner will reply to your feedback before you can start discussing another prompt.
3. Lack of mutual feedback means the speakers are having two separate monologues / a dialogue.
