Nowadays, some people choose to live and work in the countryside. New ways of working, such as online working, have made it possible for more people to live there. There are both advantages and (38) _____ to live in the countryside.

On the one hand, life in the countryside is very peaceful. There are fewer cars and that means that there is less noise, and that it is less (39) _____. Furthermore, there is more land available in the countryside, and people can often live in (40) _____ houses or flats than in cities. Finally, it is easier to do a lot of outdoor activities such as walking or cycling if you live in the countryside. On the other hand, life in the countryside can be boring. There are fewer restaurants, cinemas and shops to go to. Moreover, there is little public transport, which makes it difficult to get around if you don't have a car. Finally, you can feel isolated if you live a long way from other people.

In conclusion, there are both pros and cons of living in the countryside. However, in my opinion, the (41) _____ of the countryside makes it a very (42) _____ option.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the following questions.

Many teenagers nowadays spend the majority of their leisure time in front of screens, scrolling through social media or playing video games. However, a growing number of young people in urban areas are choosing a different lifestyle during holidays: visiting relatives in the countryside or joining outdoor teen clubs.

Living in the countryside offers teenagers unique experiences that modern cities cannot provide. Life here moves much more slowly and peacefully. In the morning, instead of waking up to the noisy sound of traffic, teens can enjoy fresh air and birdsong. Furthermore, country activities require physical work. Many teens eagerly help local farmers harvest crops, feed cattle, or herd buffaloes. They discover that farm work is physically challenging, yet it brings a wonderful sense of achievement.

In addition to outdoor tasks, spending time in a rural environment allows teenagers to form genuine friendships. Without constant internet distractions, they interact directly with each other by flying kites, swimming in rivers, or playing traditional folk games. These communal activities not only reduce school pressure and anxiety but also help teens develop valuable life skills. As a result, many teens return to school feeling refreshed and more confident in dealing with their studies.

Question 43. What is the main idea of the passage?

- A. The disadvantages of using social media among city teenagers.
- B. Why traditional folk games are becoming popular in modern cities.
- C. The benefits of rural experiences and outdoor activities for teenagers.
- D. How local farmers in the countryside harvest their crops every year.
