Rafa's Daily Routine

Rafa is a grade-eleven student who enjoys swimming. He wakes up at half past four on training days. First, he prepares his swimming equipment and eats breakfast. He goes to school in the morning and attends his classes. After school, he goes to the swimming pool three times a week. His coach guides him through warm-up exercises and swimming practice.

When he gets home, Rafa rests and eats dinner. He usually studies for one hour before going to bed at nine thirty. On days without training, he spends more time doing school assignments. He believes that a good routine helps him balance school, sports, and rest.
