Winter Light Festival in November

This winter, why not visit the Winter Light Festival in Canada? The name comes from the beautiful light shows in the center of Toronto where the festival takes place. People from across Canada and other countries, like the USA and France, travel there every year. There's even a special train service for visitors.

If you enjoy light shows, ice skating, and tasty street food, this is the perfect event for you. Around 200,000 people visit the festival every year. This year, it is from Friday the 15th to Sunday the 24th of November. You can enjoy live music, winter markets, and art workshops.

The Winter Light Festival is famous for its mix of lights, music, and food. It started with traditional jazz music, but now you can also listen to pop, rock, and electronic. Some recent performers include Michael Bublé and a popular Canadian band called The Weeknd.
The weather in November in Toronto is usually very cold – around -5° Celsius! Many activities are outdoors, but there are also large heated tents and indoor areas if it snows.

1. Where does the festival take place?
2. When is the festival this year?
3. What is the Winter Light Festival famous for?
4. How many people visit the festival?
5. What kind of music can you listen to during the festival?
6. How is the weather during the festival?
