A Memorable Trip to the Mountains

Last weekend, my friends and I decided to visit Chimborazo Volcano early in the morning. We left Riobamba at 6:00 AM by bus. The weather was very cold, so we wore warm jackets, gloves, and hats.

When we arrived at the first refuge, we saw many wild vicuñas walking near the road. We stopped to take photos and enjoyed the amazing view of the snow-capped mountain. After that, we walked up to the second refuge. It was difficult to breathe because of the high altitude, so we walked slowly and drank plenty of water.

At noon, we returned to the base and ate hot locro de papa at a small local restaurant. Finally, we came back home in the afternoon. Everyone felt exhausted, but we had an unforgettable adventure together
