Reading Part 3

- For each question, choose the correct answer.

O'Connell Street is the main thoroughfare and is one of the busiest shopping streets in Dublin. Even though it is not a very long street, the locals will proudly tell the visitor that it is the widest street in all of Europe. This claim often meets with protests, especially from French people, claiming the Champs Elysees of Paris as Europe's widest street. But the witty Irishman won't easily relinquish bragging rights and will trump the French visitor with a fine distinction: The Champs Elysees is an avenue; O'Connell is a street. Divided by a few important monuments running the length of its centre, the street is named after Daniel O'Connell, an Irish patriot. His monument stands at the lower end of the road, facing O'Connell Bridge. O'Connell stands high above the business people, unhurried crowds of shoppers and students on a big column, surrounded by four angels representing Patriotism, Courage, Eloquence and Fidelity. Further up the street on the other side is the famous General Post Office or the GPO as Dubliners call it. During the Easter Rising of 1916, the GPO was taken over by the Irish Volunteers on Easter Monday and occupied by the revolutionary forces, sparking weeks of armed combat in the heart of Dublin. To this day, three of the angels bear bullet holes - two with a wound in the chest and one in its left arm.

What is the writer's main purpose in writing the text?

- A) to explain what it's like to be Irish
- B) to describe historic sights on Dublin's O'Connell Street
- C) to introduce readers to the biography of Daniel O'Connell
- D) to show how difficult being a Dubliner can be

Dubliners claim that O'Connell Street ...

- A) is the widest street in the world
- B) is the widest street in Europe
- C) is the longest street in all of Europe
- D) wider than it is long

What does the author say about the Irish people?

- A) They are talkative and playful
- B) They are rebellious and do not like foreigners
- C) They never agree with French people
- D) They are clever and funny

The Daniel O'Connell statue stands ...

- A) opposite O'Connell Bridge
- B) behind the General Post Office
- C) at the upper end of the street
- D) far away from the city centre

Which of the following would be the best title for this passage?

- A) The Irish Take Pride in Their Capital City
- B) The Widest Street in Europe
- C) Sights and History on Dublin's O'Connell Street
- D) Dublin's Famous Landmark

Reading Part 4

- Five sentences have been removed from the text below. For each question (1-5), choose the correct answer (A-H) There are three extra sentences which you do not need to use

Dangerous Snakes

Many people believe that snakes are the world's deadliest creatures to humans, but actually they are not. The most dangerous creatures to humans are insects. 1) One of the most dangerous insects is probably the mosquito. Mosquitoes can carry certain diseases, such as West Nile virus, malaria, yellow fever, which many millions of people die from every year. Flies can also carry many diseases of humans and domestic animals.

2) There are more than 3,000 species of snakes in the world and they're found everywhere except in Antarctica, Iceland, Ireland, Greenland, and New Zealand. 3) But not all snakes kill with venom. A constrictor grabs its prey with its teeth, then quickly winds itself around it and squeezes tightly. 4) The snake can then swallow it.

Most constrictors are very large snakes. 5) More than 30 000 people die every year because of snake bites, the vast majority in South East Asia and India. They die because they live far away from towns and medical help.

- A) Snakes have extremely poor sight and hearing.
- B) Snakes are actually the second most deadly animals in the world.
- C) Of these, about 400 can kill a man with their venom.
- D) These snakes are not usually kept as pets.
- E) For example, The anaconda of South America can grow up to 11 metres long.
- F) But people are usually more dangerous than animals.
- G) Many of them carry and transmit diseases that can kill people.
- H) The prey cannot breathe and usually dies.

Something About Me

I'm Oliver and I live in a house with my parents, two sisters - Sophia and Alice and a dog. We live near the railway station but my school is (1) far from my house to go on foot so it takes me about 25 minutes to get there (2) bus. There's a big park with green lawns opposite our house but there aren't any shops.

My grandparents live in a small cottage (3) the country. I often go to visit them with my parents. When the weather's good, I go mountain biking in the forest. There's also a big lake, (4) the whole family can sail a boat on it. I love spending holidays with my grandparents.

Art is (5) of my favorite subjects in school. I really enjoy painting and drawing. My parents have a big collection of my landscape paintings. I'm going to be (6) artist and have my own studio. I will not be a doctor like Mum because it's a very difficult job. And I don't want to be an accountant like Dad. Working in an office is not for me!
