CYCLING IN AMSTERDAM

Amsterdam is now the most cycling-friendly capital city in the world, but it wasn't always the case. Things started to change in the 1970s to make cycling a safe and easy way of getting around the city.

Now, anyone can see that cycling comes first in the streets of Amsterdam. (1) ___ Others have special cycling lanes, including signs, traffic lights and other signals designed specially for cycling. Thanks to this, cycling become the most popular means of transport there and you can see all kinds of people riding around the city. (2) ___

What's more, to move around the city on a bike, you don't need to own one. There are bicycle rental shops all over the city, which have different types of bicycles at reasonable prices. (3) ___

This is good news for tourists who want to see the historic centre of the city. They can just rent a bike and go sightseeing on their own. (4) ___ Local guides will tell you all about the history of the city and you won't get lost!

- A And, if you're in a group, you will be offered a discount.
- B This is the best kind of bike for a longer trip around the city.
- C Another option is to use one of the many guided cycle tours.
- D Many of them are closed to car traffic completely.
- E They might be businesspeople in suits, teenagers, parents with small children, and tourists.

TIPS FOR SAFE CYCLING IN AMSTERDAM

Although cycling in Amsterdam is really safe, the huge numbers of cyclists, plus car and tram traffic, mean that accidents might happen. So, follow some basic rules to make sure you avoid problems during your ride.

- Keep to cycle lanes: avoid crossing the white lines so you don't ride into the road for car traffic. Also, do not enter walking areas on your bike, like footpaths or sidewalks.
- Hand signals are necessary to make sure other road users know what you are planning to do, especially when you're going to turn or stop.
- Make sure your bicycle has both front and back lights which you must turn on after dark. If you don't, the police will stop you and you'll have to pay a fine.
- Pay special attention to trams as they always have the right of way. So, you mustn't go across tram tracks if you see a tram coming towards you.

1 Cyclists mustn't go onto the roads for driving a car or paths for _____.
2 While cycling, use your _____ to inform others that, e.g. you want to stop.
3 You have to turn on the lights on your bike when you ride in the _____.
4 You must always _____ if there is a tram moving in your direction. ___ / 4
