THE LATEST WEBCAM FROM FUMIX

Fumix have created a new version of their popular webcam, which you can only buy online. It's like the old model, but they've improved a number of features. This new model also sits at the top of your computer screen, but it's much smaller, so you almost don't know it's there. They've also reduced the price. The old model cost €125, but this new version only costs €99, plus €10 more if you want a silver or gold version. And very importantly, the picture quality is excellent. It's perfect for chatting online with your friends. They've obviously listened carefully to their customers. I sent some comments to them last year about the old model. The biggest problem for me was the picture quality – the picture was a bit dark. People who I met online thought I had dark hair, but I'm actually blond!
