Tsingy, the Stone Forest of Madagascar

I (2) the stone forest of Madagascar to study plants and animals for over 20 years. The spiky stones of this place are true miracles of nature. This amazing shape (3) by rainfall. Rain has cut down the stones and made them sharp and spiky over a long period of time. The environment is harsh (4) to live in, but they have found ways to survive. For example, lemurs, which only live in Madagascar, have frog-like legs (5) help them jump from one stone tower to another. For me, the stone forest is like a jack-in-the-box. It always surprises me and keeps me on my toes!
