I. Read the text and complete the tasks below:

(10p.)

Fact File: Computers

The first computers were very big. They were the size of a room. They were so big that people didn't have them at home. Early computers could also only do simple maths, like a calculator. In the 1930s Alan Turing had the idea for a computer you could program to do different things. In 1958 Jack Kilby invented the microchip. Microchips are tiny but can store lots of information. They helped make computers smaller. In 1989 Tim Berners-Lee invented the World Wide Web, which is a way to organize information on the internet. Now people all over the world can look for and share information on websites. Today people can use smart phones to play games, email and go on the internet. In the past, a simple computer was the size of a room. Now it can go in your pocket!
