

1. Fill in the gaps using the words in brackets in the correct form.

- To become a smoke jumper one should be even _____ (good) prepared physically than any other firefighter.
- He seems to be _____ (enthusiastic) person in our group.
- He is _____ (strange) man I've ever met.
- Women seem to be _____ (patient) than men. They began to shout as soon as they are hurt.
- The rescue team couldn't see anything _____ (far) than 100 metres because of the smoke.
- The train from Ryazan is _____ (fast) than the local one. Take it.
- Whose house is _____ (close) to yours?
- To my mind, 'Google is _____ (popular) among the search systems in the world.
- I don't think ghost hunting is _____ (serious) than tornado chasing.
- He hasn't explained to me _____ (complicated) part of the rule.

2. Choose the appropriate forms of the adjectives to complete the sentences. In some cases both forms are possible then choose the best one.

- What's the _____ place you've been to?
- There was a row of small shops on the _____ side of the street.
- Are there many colleges of _____ education in Wales?
- Your house is the _____ from here.
- For _____ instructions see Mr. Lockwood.
- That's a _____ reason to make them leave the office.
- Glasgow is _____ away from London than Manchester.
- I can't tell you what _____ explanation she could offer.
- There is no _____ information about their arrival.
- Have you got any _____ questions?

Winter in Kolomna