Desert

The Desert is a very hot habitat. It is very different than the North Pole. It is hot and dry. Some deserts can be cold. It does not rain very much there. Deserts are very dry.

A camel is an animal that lives in the desert. It can live there because it does not need a lot of food. Camels have food in their humps and can go without the need for food or water.

Lots of plants grow in the desert and there are even lots of animals.
