

| English word | English definition                                                                                                                                                                              |
|--------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|              | Is a tradesman who works with plaster , such as forming a layer of plaster on an interior wall or plaster decorative mouldings on ceilings or walls. He puts up partitions |
|              | Is a tradesman who specializes in installing pipes and maintaining systems used for potable water, sewage and drainage                                              |
|              | Cuts and fits joints in wood , usually works in a workshop and makes doors , windows ...                                                              |
|              | Is a craftsman who lays bricks or concrete to construct brickwork                                                                                                          |
|              | Works with timber to construct, install and maintain building roofs . He works outdoors .                                                                                  |
|              | Specializes in construction concentrating on the application of materials . He puts tiles on the roof.                                                                                          |
|              | Is a tradesman specializing in electrical wiring of buildings or equipment                                                                                                               |

A plumber

A plasterer

A bricklayer

A roofer

An electrician

A carpenter

A joiner

|  |  |  |                      |
|--|--|--|----------------------|
|  |  |  | A painter            |
|  |  |  |                      |
|  |  |  | A tiler              |
|  |  |  |                      |
|  |  |  | A heating specialist |
|  |  |  |                      |
|  |  |  | An architect         |

Is a worker who lays tiles such as ceramic, stone, metal or even glass. Tiles are generally used for covering floors, walls, showers...

Is a person trained in the planning, design and oversight of the construction of buildings.

Offers the sales, supply and installation of quality cooling and heating products in the domestic or commercial spaces.
He looks after the central heating

Is a tradesman responsible for the painting or decorating of the buildings. It is to make a better look and a better protection from damage by water, insects...He wallpapers or paints the walls