GRAMMAR PRACTICE

Parallel Structure

© Brought to you for classroom (not commercial) use by ASU students in English Education

To improve the clarity of your writing, it is important to remember the equality of your sentence structure. This worksheet was designed to help you better understand the importance of Parallel Structure.

Parallel Structure means using the same construction for sentence elements that are the same in function.

Below are THREE rules to consider when checking for Parallel Structure in your writing:

1. Parallel Structure should be used when elements are joined by coordinating conjunctions:

Incorrect: I am allergic to the dog's hair and how it smells.

Correct: I am allergic to the dog's hair and its smell.

2. Parallel Structure should be used when writing elements in the form of a list or a series:

Incorrect: The class valued respect, honesty, and being on time in a teacher.

Correct: The class valued respect, honesty, and promptness in a teacher.

3. Parallel Structure should be used when comparing or contrasting elements (A is better than B – X is less than Y):

Incorrect: James enjoys reading more than to write.

Correct: James enjoys reading more than writing.
