Intensifyied agriculture is driving the losses. Habitats where birds once bread, nested, and wintered now bear crops, and pesticide have killed off birds' pray. In the past 27 years Germany has loss 75 percent of its flying insects by mass. Even avian species that tipically adapt to humans have dwindled on farms

The Amazon Rainforest is the world's richest and most-varied biological reservoir, containning several million varietys of insects, plants, birds, and other forms of life, many still unrecorded by science. The dence, vegetation incompasses a wide variety of trees, including excellant timber used to furnish many homes on earth.
