

A compass has four points: north, south, east and west.
These four points indicate directions.

Directions help us find our way.