

Two More Golden Tickets Found

Put the words in the right place

life hear girl third GOLDEN factory

TWO TICKETS FOUND TODAY, read the newspaper. ONLY ONE MORE LEFT.

'All right,' said Grandpa Joe, 'let's hear who found them.' 'The ticket,' read Mr Bucket, 'was found by Miss Violet Beauregarde. And the famous was standing on a chair in the living room waving the Golden Ticket. She was talking very fast and very loudly, but it was not easy to all that she said because she was chewing so ferociously chewing gum at the same time. "I'm a gum chewer, normally," she shouted, "but when I heard about these ticket things of Mr Wonka's, I gave up gum and started on chocolate bars. Now, of course, I'm back on gum. I just adore gum. I can't do without it. I munch it all day long except for a few minutes at mealtimes when I take it out and stick it behind my ear.

'I'm thrilled to be going to Mr Wonka's . And I understand that afterwards he's going to give me enough gum to last me for the rest of my whole . Whoopee! Hooray!'"

'Beastly girl,' said Grandma Josephine. 'Despicable!' said Grandma Georgina.

'And who got the fourth Golden Ticket?' Charlie asked.

'Now, let me see,' said Mr Bucket, reading the newspaper again. "The fourth Golden Ticket," he read, 'was found by a boy called Mike Teavee, who seemed extremely annoyed by the excitement of his neighbours "Can't you fools see I'm watching television?" he said angrily. "I wish you wouldn't interrupt!"

"Quiet!" he shouted, when someone tried to ask him a question. "Didn't I tell you not to interrupt! This show's an absolute whiz-banger! It's terrific! I watch it every day. I also have hundreds of guns, I love shooting"

'That's quite enough!' snapped Grandma Josephine. 'I can't bear to listen to it!'

'Nor me,' said Grandma Georgina. 'Do all children behave like this nowadays — like these brats we've been hearing about?'

'Of course not,' said Mr Bucket, smiling at the old lady in the bed. 'Some do, of course. In fact, quite a lot of them do. But not all.'

'And now there's only one ticket left!' said Grandpa George.

'Quite so,' sniffed Grandma Georgina. 'And just as sure as I'll be having cabbage soup for supper tomorrow, that ticket will go to some nasty little beast who doesn't deserve it!'
