

Name _____ Date _____

Context Clues: Multisyllabic Words

1) After Professor Smith taught for seven years at New York University, he was allowed to go on a sabbatical. Fortunately, during the year off he took to study and travel he still was paid by the university.

Sabbatical probably means: (sab-bat-i-cal)

- a) vacation trip during summer break
- b) paid leave after seven years' work
- c) retirement from work in a university

2) The remote control car Josh was given for Christmas had such amazing maneuverability. Unlike his last remote control car that was hard to steer and drive, he could easily move this one around anything in its path.

Maneuverability probably means: (ma-neu-ver-a-bil-i-ty)

- a) vehicle powered by remote control
- b) a gift that is appreciated and loved
- c) simple to move, steer, and direct

3) Usually the airline did not allow animals to fly in the passenger cabin, but in the case of therapy animals, this rule was inapplicable. If a passenger who has a therapy animal provides a letter from their doctor or counselor stating they need to travel with the animal, it is allowed.

Inapplicable probably means: (in-ap-pli-ca-ble)

- a) unable to be applied in this case
- b) an application was not submitted
- c) the rule against it will still apply

4) An antiglobalization protest march and rally will take place today in front of the United States Senate. Thousands of people who are against allowing businesses to gain too much power around the world are planning to attend. They want to demand changes to global business laws.

Antiglobalization probably means: (an-ti-glob-al-i-za-tion)

- a) allowed to do business in many countries across the world
- b) being against global businesses having too much power
- c) using a globe to represent many businesses and countries