

The Early First Nations of Eastern Canada

There are three geographical zones in Canada: Arctic, Subarctic and Eastern Woodlands. Choose one of these zones and complete the following tasks.

Using online resources, find out at least 5 things about the environment in the area you chose. Look for information about the geography, vegetation, climate and natural resources.

Based on the information you found, make 3 different inferences you can make about how First Nations Peoples in this area would have lived (before contact with the Europeans).
