

Steve has been on holidays with his family in an exotic place called Hawaii. He wants to tell his friend Jenna everything about the trip! Oh, but he has forgotten the right verbs... Can you help him?

Write the past simple form of the regular verbs (-ed) or to be (was/were) in the box.

My trip to Hawaii

The day before the trip I was so nervous that I _____ (watch) TV all night! The next day was Saturday, and we had to take the flight at nine o'clock, so my family and I _____ (arrive) at the airport two hours before the flight. We _____ (to be) all very excited, but my mum _____ (not to be). She is afraid of heights and _____ (want) to go by ship.

When we _____ (land) at three o'clock, we _____ (decide) to go to the hotel to rest a little, and then we spent the rest of the afternoon in the hotel's beach.

On Sunday, our guide Keilani _____ (communicate) that we were going to visit the Volcano National Park, one of the most incredible places there are in Hawaii. The main volcano, called Kilauea, is now active, and in its last eruption it _____ (form) a lava lake that was very impressive to see!

Monday's activities _____ (to be) my favourite part of the trip! In the morning, we went surfing with a very nice instructor – but a jellyfish _____ (attack) dad, and everybody _____ (look) at him! He _____ (not cry), he _____ (to be) very brave. _____ I _____ (mention) that the instructor _____ (help) him? He _____ (save) the day!

In the afternoon, we _____ (visit) the Pearl Harbor Visitor Center, where we _____ (learn) a lot about the World War II's attack in 1941 that _____ (kill) 1,177 American soldiers. It _____ (to be) a tragedy.

Tuesday was our last day in the island, so we _____ (not stay) in the hotel. We _____ (decide) to go hiking in the Waimea Canyon State Park. Those views _____ (seem) like we were in paradise! What a place!

I really recommend you visit Hawaii, Jenna. It _____ (to be) the best trip of my life!