The end of the Earth

Before the Modern Age, people believed that the Earth was flat.
But where did it end?

There were many legends about the Earth. Some people said there were monsters at the end of the Earth. Others said that the Earth had edges that you could fall off, if you were too close!

In 1522, Juan Sebastián Elcano sailed around the Earth for the first time. He demonstrated that the shape of the Earth is round, not flat.
