SUPPORT PARAGRAPH 2

	Smart devices are portals to cyberbullying, resulting in the untimely deaths of many teenagers.
	Teenagers are at a stage of their life where their identity is being developed. Seeking approval and wanting to be liked is important to their esteem. However, in the internet, this behaviour can go unchecked. Teenagers can be exposed to hate speech, abuse and even violence. Furthermore, this can break their already fragile esteem.
	For example, Ashley Lovelace who was only 16, committed suicide after she was continuously bullied on instagram. She was endlessly taunted for being ugly until she finally took her life.
	This is precisely why smart devices are doing more harm than good for our current generation.

CONCLUSION

RESTATEMENT

Although smart devices have benefits such as being an educational tool or an easy method for communication, they are undoubtedly also becoming a threat to the psyche of our current generation.

SUMMARIZE SUBPOINTS

Not only are these sleek devices robbing young people off their attention span, they are also making teenagers vulnerable to uncontrolled hate speech on the internet. Suicides due to the internet are on the rise and smart devices are the portals leading to that.

FINAL IMPRESSION

Clearly, smart devices are doing more harm than good. The usages of smart devices certainly should be highly monitored to ensure the current generation grow up safely and healthily.

Band	O'level Marking Scheme	Marks
A	Language – accurate apart from very occasional slips Sentences – varied structure; demonstrates skill to use different lengths and types for particular effects Verbs forms & sentences – largely correct; tenses are appropriate and consistently used to sustain a logical progression of events and ideas Vocabulary – wide & precise Punctuation – accurate and helpful to the reader Spelling – accurate across the full range of vocabulary Paragraphs – show unity, are linked, and show evidence of planning Response to topic – addressed with consistent relevance; interest of reader is aroused and sustained Response to topic – addressed with consistent relevance; interest of reader is aroused and sustained	27-30
B	Language – accurate with occasional errors that are either slips or arise from attempts to use ambitious structures or vocabulary that may be imperfectly understood Sentences – some variation of length & type, including the confident use of complex sentences to create some natural fluency Verbs forms & sentences – occasional slips in but sequence will be consistent and clear through the piece Vocabulary – wide enough to convey intended shades of meaning with some precision Punctuation – accurate and generally helpful Spelling – nearly always accurate Paragraphs – show unity and are usually appropriately linked, show some evidence of planning Response to topic – relevant; interest of the reader is aroused & sustained through most of the composition Tone & register – genuine effort made to achieve appropriateness to the topic	23-26
C	Language – mostly accurate; errors occurred will not mar clarity of communication Sentences – may show some variety of structure & length but a tendency to repeat sentence types & 'shapes', producing a monotonous effect Verbs forms & sentences – may have errors in irregular verb forms but control of tense sequence will be sufficient to sustain a clear progression of events or ideas Vocabulary – simple vocab & idioms are mainly correct; mistakes may occur when more sophistication is attempted Punctuation – generally accurate but errors may occur when more difficult tasks are attempted; eg the punctuation of direct speech. Sentence separation is correctly marked by punctuation. Spelling – accurate for simple vocabulary; errors may occur when more ambitious vocabulary is used Paragraphs – show some unity but links may be absent or inappropriate Response to topic – relevant & will arouse some interest in the reader. Lack of originality and/or some evidence of lack of planning. Tone & register – tone usually appropriate to topic; may have slips of register with some unsuitable vocabulary or idiom.	19-22

D	Language – sufficiently accurate to communicate meaning. Patches of clear, accurate language, particularly when simple vocabulary & structures are used. Sentences – some variety of sentence length and structure, but reader may not be convinced that this variety is for a particular purpose. Verbs forms & sentences – show errors & inconsistency which cause some uncertainty in the sequence of events or disturb the ease of communication Vocabulary – usually adequate to convey intended meaning but may be insufficiently developed to achieve precision. Idioms may be uncertain at times. Punctuation – used but may not enhance/clarify meaning. Some sentence separation errors may occur occasionally. Spelling – Simple words spelt accurately, but more complex vocabulary may show some spelling weakness Paragraphs – Used but may lack unity or coherence. Response to topic – a genuine attempt made to address the topic, but there may be digressions or failures of logic & there may be occasional irrelevance. May lack liveliness and interest value Tone & register – tone may be uneven	15-18
E	Language – overall meaning is never in doubt, but the errors are sufficiently frequent and serious to hamper precision, and may slow down speed of reading. Sentences – some simple structures will be accurate, but a script is unlikely to sustain accuracy for long Verbs forms & sentences – errors in them will sometimes confuse the sequence of events Vocabulary – limited; either too simple to convey precise meaning or more ambitious but imperfectly understood. Some idiomatic errors are likely. Punctuation – simple ones will usually be accurate, but there may be frequent sentence separation errors. Spelling – simple words will usually be spelt correctly, but there may be inconsistency, and frequent mistakes in the spelling of more difficult words. Paragraphs – lack unity or be used haphazardly. Response to topic – show some relevance but the incidence of linguistic error is likely to distract the reader from merits of content Tone & register – tone may sometimes indicate that candidate recognises the nature of the topic but only inconsistently	11-14
F	Language – many serious errors of various kinds throughout, but they will be of the 'single-word' type i.e. they could be corrected without rewriting the sentence. Communication is established but the weight of errors may cause 'blurring' from time to time Sentences – simple & repetitive in structure Verbs forms & sentences – frequent errors in verb forms; haphazard changes of tenses will confuse the meaning. Vocabulary – conveys meaning but is likely to be simple & imprecise. Errors in idiomatic usage will be a significant feature. Punctuation – haphazard & may be completely absent in some parts Spelling – inconsistent Paragraphs – haphazard or non-existent Response to topic – evidence of interesting & relevant subject matter but the weight of linguistic errors will tend to obscure or neutralise its effect Tone & register – may have some recognition of appropriate tone for the genre	7-10
