The diet is balanced, however there is a big percentage of obesity among children. Did you know that Italian people who eat pasta such as noodles or spaghetti, cheese and so forth don't have big problems with obesity? Experts explain that this is because they consume high percentages of carbohydrates, but they also eat them with salads. Besides, they shop for their groceries daily. They cook every time they need to eat. They don't heat food. Their food is always fresh. Maybe, that is why they don't gain a lot of weight!!
