Coco

Computer-animated cartoon, 2017

The film, Coco, tells the story of Miguel, a musician like his hero, Ernesto de la Cruz. Miguel's big problem is that his family hates music and no-one can play or listen to it in their house. But Miguel doesn't give up on his dream.

One day, after finding a magical guitar, Miguel travels to the Land of the Dead. It's an exciting place, and he meets many dead people from his family there, While he's there, he makes a friend, Hector. Together they have some amazing adventures and in the end, they find out Miguel's family secret.

My favourite character in the film is Hector. At first, he only helps Miguel because he wants Miguel to help him, but after that

For me Coco is a great film and I'd certainly recommend it. I loved the music and it was also interesting to learn more about Mexico and the Day of the Dead. If you haven't seen it yet, and friends!
