Fill in the blanks.

I like using social media and when I about Questions.com I created an account.

At first, I kept laughing and joking, but after a while I getting cruel and mean messages from an anonymous person. I messages every day.

I to worry my parents and I was embarrassed to tell my friends. It finally got to the point where it a nightmare.

I to tell my coach at my baseball club because I got on really well with him and him the messages.

Once my account was deleted, I a text from a friend asking why I had deleted it.

After talking about it, he how bad I had felt, and he nothing like that would ever happen again. He me to forgive him, and I did.
