Hi Emily!

In my last e-mail, I told you that I ^{1.} on a class trip to a fashion museum ^{2.} You said it ^{3.} boring, but you were wrong. We went yesterday and it was really interesting. At the museum, a guide showed us some wigs from the 17th and 18th centuries I think. He said that back then, only the rich ^{4.} wigs with long hair. Both men and women wore these wigs with lots of curls. When my friend Oliver told the guide that he ^{5.} a man with a long wig, the guide pointed out that British lawyers and judges still wore similar wigs in court.
I wanted to see more items in this exhibition, but the guide said that we ^{6.} continue to our next stop. It was an exhibition about women's shoes in the 16th and 17th centuries. The guide explained that the streets of Venice ^{7.} very dirty. In order to keep their skirts clean, he told us that women ^{8.} wearing a type of platform shoe – chopines. The guide let us try on chopines and everyone said they ^{9.} or walk in them without falling!
