

Murder at Mortlock Hall

After about ten minutes Miss Lang joined Mr and Mrs Watkins in the library. 'OK,' she smiled, 'now I'm ready.'

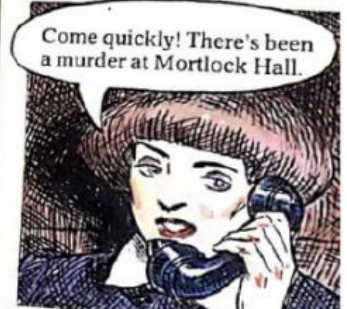

The three people sat around a card table.

'I think that Mr Marshall was horrible to poor Mr Sachs,' Mrs Watkins said. 'And Mrs Sachs is Mr Marshall's own sister, you know.'

'Yes,' said Mr Watkins. 'And did you hear what Marshall said? "She was stupid to marry you!" What a terrible thing to say!'

'You know,' Miss Lang said, 'I think Mr Marshall is worried about something. I heard loud voices in his office this afternoon so I went in to talk to him. He seemed OK, but then he had a phone call. His face went white and he rushed out of the room like a madman.'

Mr Watkins picked up the cards. 'There's certainly something strange happening at Mortlock Hall. I don't like it.'
