

Lunch is served!

Lunch is one of the four traditional meals of the day. We usually have breakfast in the morning, we have lunch at around midday, we have tea or coffee in the afternoon and we have dinner at night.

For some cultures, breakfast is the most important meal. That is probably the case of the United States of America. For other cultures, lunch is the most important meal of the day. That could be the case of most Latin American countries such as Uruguay. Finally, there are other countries in which dinner could be very important.

Through lunch we can see the different cultures in the different countries. Have a look at the following pics.

MATCH THE MEALS WITH THE CORRECT TIME OF THE DAY

in the morning

at mid-day

in the afternoon

at night

TEA

BREAKFAST

DINNER

LUNCH

How often...?

Frequency Adverbs

100 %

ALWAYS

I always get up at 7 o'clock.

70 %

OFTEN

We often go shopping on Saturday.

50 %

SOMETIMES

They sometimes eat Mexican food.

5 %

RARELY

I rarely go to the cinema.

0 %

NEVER

She never listens to classical music.

Los adverbios de frecuencia se usan para indicar qué tan a menudo hacemos algo en particular.

Answer the questions with YOUR information using ONE of the FREQUENCY ADVERBS (sólo uno y en inglés...).

*Recuerda que puedes conectar oraciones usando AND y BUT

How often do you have breakfast?

What do you have for breakfast?

Is LUNCH the most important meal of the day to you? Why?

How often do you have tea? (merienda, no la infusión herbal)

What do you have for tea?

Is it HEALTHY (saludable) to have dinner? Why?
