b) Read the letter and correct the mistakes in bold. (Hint: Check spelling, word accuracy, use of capital letters, or word order)

Dear Mrs Percelli

I am writing with reference to your advertisement in the Daily News, offering classes in 1) italian. I am very interested in your intense course for 2) begginers and would like some 3) furthest information.

Firstly, I would like to know a little more about the course schedule. For instance, could you please 4) say me how long 5) does the course last, and how many hours a week it involves? I would also like to know 6) wether there are classes on Saturdays.

In addition, I would appreciate 7) informations about the organized trips 8) mentioning in your advertisement. I am interested to know which cities 9) will you visit.

Could you also inform me if students are allowed to invite their friends and family to join them in these trips?

Thanking you for your time and 10) assistance.

Yours sincerely,

Andrea Wilson

c) Read the letter again and answer the following questions:

- 1) Has the writer included all of the necessary points from the notes in exercise a?
- 2) What style has the writer used – formal or informal?
- 3) Does the writer know the name of the person she is writing to?
