Complete the story.

Liz is at the beach. Right now, she is                                 <sup>1</sup>. Her daughter Mia is                                 <sup>2</sup>. Liz runs to the                                 <sup>3</sup>.

Liz describes her                                 <sup>4</sup>. Mia is seven years old. She has brown hair and blue                                 <sup>5</sup>. She has freckles on her face. She is wearing a big hat.

The lifeguard looks through his                                 <sup>6</sup>. Then he looks at Liz. "Is Mia wearing a                                 <sup>7</sup> bathing suit?"

"Yes!" says Liz. "Do you see her?"

"Yes," says the lifeguard. "She's right                                 <sup>8</sup> you."
