Starfire made some chocolate chip cookies and left them on the kitchen counter to cool. When she returned to the kitchen, all of the cookies were gone. The only person present was Robin.

Starfire: "Where are the cookies?" she asked, "they are all gone."

Robin:

Starfire: "There are cookie crumbs on the couch, where you are sitting."

Robin:

Starfire: "I smell chocolate on your breath, Robin."

Robin:

Starfire: "There are cookie crumbs around your mouth!" she yelled.

Robin:

Starfire: "I wish you would tell me the truth." she said sadly.

Robin:

Starfire: "It's okay Robin, but can you be honest the next time please? Your lying really did hurt my feelings."
