

E-services

1

E - Commerce

E-commerce refers to the buying and selling of products, supplies and services over the internet. Examples of e-commerce are e-tickets, food delivery services and grocery shopping.

2

E - Banking

E-banking allows you to manage your money online. You can perform various transactions from anywhere through Internet banking.

3

E - Government

E-government is the use of Internet to provide government services to the public. One of the common services provided is university entry application. You can also check whether you have outstanding summons from the Police or the Road and Transport Department through the Internet.

4

E - Learning

E-learning refers to learning via the Internet or working through a disc-based tutorial.

EXERCISE

A. Fill in the bubble with e-services information.

E-commerce refers to the buying and selling of products, supplies and services over the internet. Examples of e-commerce are e-tickets, food delivery services and grocery shopping.

E-government is the use of Internet to provide government services to the public. One of the common services provided is university entry application. You can also check whether you have outstanding summons from the Police or the Road and Transport Department through the Internet.

E-learning refers to learning via the Internet or working through a disc-based tutorial.

E-banking allows you to manage your money online. You can perform various transactions from anywhere through Internet banking.

E - Commerce

E - Banking

E - Government

E - Learning