

My name's Jenny Zielinski. I live and work in New York. I'm the assistant editor of a called NewYork 24seven. A few months ago, I visited our office in to learn more about the company. I met the manager, Daniel O'Connor. I had lots of meetings with him, of course. And a working dinner on my ... But I spent more time with Rob Walker. He's one of the writers on the London magazine.
We had coffees together. We went . I even helped Rob buy a !
He was fun to be with. I liked him a lot. I think he liked me too. Rob isn't the most punctual person in the world, but he is a great writer. We invited him to work for the New York magazine for a month...and he ! So now Rob's coming to New York.
I know he's really about it. It's going to be to see him again.
