

Grammar

Simple Past

Joe read a book yesterday.
Max wrote a letter yesterday.

Past Continuous

Joe was reading a book while Max was writing a letter.
What were you doing at 6 o'clock?

Grammar Practice

a Complete the sentences with the correct form of a verb from the box.

write wash play study not ride sleep talk

- They were hungry on the train because the food cart passed while they _____.
- Tamara _____ on the phone at twelve o'clock yesterday.
- Sam _____ a video game while Kate _____ for the test.
- _____ Mom _____ a letter when you came in?
- The children _____ their bikes when I saw them yesterday morning, they _____ the car.

b Complete the dialogue with the correct form of the verbs in parentheses.

CRAIG: So, what happened? I don't believe it.

SCOTT: Well I 1) _____ (see) Colin yesterday in the school gym at about a quarter to five.

CRAIG: What 2) _____ he _____ (do) when you saw him?

SCOTT: He 3) _____ (jump) on the trampoline. I think he 4) _____ (practice) his double somersault.

CRAIG: Wow, that's impressive.

SCOTT: Yes, but something 5) _____ (go) wrong and he 6) _____ (fall) and hurt his neck.

CRAIG: Oh dear, is he OK now?

SCOTT: Yes, but when he 7) _____ (arrive) at the hospital, the staff 8) _____ (attend) someone else and he had to wait 2 hours!

Vocabulary Expansion • Sports

Label the equipment with the appropriate sport.

Everyday English • Describing an accident

Imagine that you are Scott. Answer the principal's questions about Colin's accident.

PRINCIPAL: Where were you at a quarter to five yesterday?

You: 1) _____

PRINCIPAL: Did you witness what happened to Colin?

You: 2) _____

PRINCIPAL: What was he doing?

You: 3) _____

PRINCIPAL: What happened exactly?

You: 4) _____

Speaking • Pairwork

In pairs, look at the pictures and ask and answer the questions about what everyone was doing at the party.

play dance eat drink

