

Pronoun-Verb Agreement

Aero and Officer Mike
Grammar:
Pronoun-Verb Agreement

- Verbs show action in sentences and when that action happens. Verbs that tell about actions that are happening now are in the present tense.
- You add -s or -es to the verb when the pronoun in the subject is he, she, or it.
- You do not add -s or -es to the verb when the pronoun in the subject is I, you, we, or they.

She barks very loudly.

They bark even more loudly.

Thinking Question

Does the subject pronoun refer just to one person or does it refer either to me or to more than one person?

Underline the present-tense verb in parentheses that agrees with the subject pronoun. Then write each sentence correctly.

1. You (find, finds) dogs of all different types.

_____

2. He (choose, chooses) the ones that are the best.

_____

3. It (seem, seems) that you know dogs well.

_____

4. We (feel, feels) that you should choose the dogs.

_____

5. They (want, wants) to pick out some dogs, too.

_____