The real Shelly Smith

Shelly Smith (win, just) her third Grammy award; this time for the best song. Her fast-paced pop music is known all over the world and she regularly (entertain) her fans with her electrifying concerts. She (visit, already) every continent and she plans to do at least eighty concerts this year. Not only that, but currently she (record) her fifth album, which will be released later this year. The most incredible thing about Shelly is that she is still only twenty-five years old.

There is no doubt that Shelly (enjoy) the sort of lifestyle that many people can only dream of. She's got an amazing voice, a modelling career and she's worth millions. On stage she sings high energy pop hits, but in her free time (not listen, usually) to pop music. Instead, her real interest is jazz music. Although few fans will be aware of it, she (sing) in a little-known jazz group for the last five years. In contrast to her pop act, Shelly's jazz group only performs small concerts, usually to less than 100 people.

Shelly tends to stay at home with her family when she (not work). Although she has a flat in New York, she (not stay) there often. In fact, she (not visit) New York since last year. Shelly's family all live in Manchester where she was born and together they (buy, just) a large house there. There's enough room for her parents and sister and she (spend) her time with them whenever she can. Shelly stays in touch with her old friends and she (go) out with them when she's at home.

At the moment, Shelly (plan) to stop entertaining her fans. In fact, her diary for next year is already full of concert dates. However, Shelly (say, recently) that she would like to stop touring in the future and move back to Manchester. We hope it's not too soon!

READING

You are going to read an article about four young people spend Saturday morning. For questions 11–17, choose from people A–D. The people may be chosen more than once.

Which person/people:

	would prefer not to do their activity at the weekend?
	regularly takes part in a team sport?
	thinks their Saturdays are different from those of most children?
	takes part in an activity for fun? would rather get up later on Saturday mornings?
	would rather get up later on Saturday mornings?
	finds it difficult to concentrate on their activity?
	eventually followed someone else's advice?

Read the article again and answer the questions in your own words.

Why does Stuart think it would be better to work during the week?

How does Nadia feel by the end of Saturday morning?

Why do the animals Amelia works with need help?

What did Tom think would happen if he didn't work?

How will Tom's activity benefit him in the future?

The weekend starts here ...

Four teenagers tell us how they spend their Saturday mornings.

A Stuart

Unfortunately, I can't just do what I want because I have to go to school. It's not usual for children to have school on Saturdays, but mine does things differently. Tuesday and Thursday afternoons are free so we can play sports, but there are classes on Saturdays instead. We have four and half hours of lessons and this year we've got History, Science and Maths. The classes are all right and the teachers make an effort to make them interesting. The problem is that we're all exhausted by Saturday and it's really hard to pay attention in class. All of us have got friends who go to 'normal' schools and we know that they're out having fun. If I had the choice, I would have extra classes during the week instead. I'm sure we would get more work done that way.

B Nadia

I can never wait for Saturdays to arrive. After a whole week of sitting at my school desk, I have to get out and use up some energy. For me, Saturday morning is all about sports and having fun with my friends. I usually get up around seven thirty and go for a jog around the park. I know it's early, but I love that part of the day. It's so peaceful because most people are still in bed at that time. After that, I go home and have some breakfast. I don't stay there long though because I usually play football with my mates. We play in a local league and we have matches most Saturdays. We don't take it too seriously, but we enjoy having a good run around and chasing after the ball. By lunchtime, I'm usually exhausted and I go home for a rest!

C Amelia In general, I prefer to keep my Saturday mornings free. We're expected to work hard at school and we get a lot of homework. Therefore, it's important to relax at the weekend. My perfect Saturday would be staying in bed late and then playing computer games with my friends. However, I've been working as a volunteer on Saturdays for the last month so I don't have much free time. I'm helping out in an animal sanctuary where we rescue dogs and cats that haven't got a home. I have to do different jobs like cleaning the cages, feeding the animals and taking the dogs for walks. I must admit that I don't like getting up so early on Saturday. However, it's worth it because those poor animals need someone to care for them.

D Tom

I've been saving up for a holiday with my friends, but it hasn't been easy. My parents give me a little money every week, but I usually spend that in no time. When I asked my dad for more money, he encouraged me to earn the money instead. He said I could do little jobs for the neighbours on a Saturday morning. At the beginning, I was disappointed because I didn't want to lose my free time. Then I realised that if I didn't work, it would be impossible to save any money. Basically, I've started washing the neighbours' cars and cutting the grass in their gardens. It's not exactly hard work and it's not so bad really. I like talking to the neighbours and they pay me quite well. Although I've lost my Saturday mornings, at least I'll be able to go on holiday with my mates.

Read the article and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap.
